Dawes Uses Insull Securities To Back U. S. Loan

R. F. C. ACCEPTANCE OF GERMAN BONDS ALSO IS REVEALED

Report to Senators Said To Show Nearly $9,000,000 of Paper Against Defunct "Utility Empire" in Collateral.

BALANCE OF LOAN IS SAID "COVERED"

Fletcher Probably Will Call Banking Committee Together This Week To Consider Data.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—An inch thick report to a senate committee today listed several million dollars in insull securities and German bonds among 7,000 items of collateral held by the Reconstruction Corporation on the now famous Dawes bank loan.

The bulky report was submitted to the senate banking subcommittee investigating reconstruction loans, in response to a request. Chairman Fletcher said he probably would call a meeting sometime this week to consider it.

Members of the committee refused to make the report public, but said it showed the outstanding balance of the loan, $62,000,000, was covered by the collateral under the corporation's estimate of present value.

They said the value of all insull securities held as collateral was not totaled, but one member estimated it at from $8,000,000 to $9,000,000.

German Paper.

In addition, committee members said, the collateral included several million dollars of foreign securities, among them many German federal and state bonds.

Most of the items in the thick report were notes and mortgages turned over to the government agency by the Central Republic Bank and Trust Company of Chicago to support the loan of $90,000,000 in 1932.

The advance was made shortly after Charles G. Dawes retired as head of the corporation to take the chairmanship of the bank. This circumstance drew criticism from members.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK FOR FEW CHANGES IN RECOVERY ACTS

President Well Satisfied With Progress of Program; Business Data Being Gathered.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Few changes in the recovery machine are to be asked of congress by President Roosevelt and the general impression in capital official circles is that the chief executive believes the anti-depression campaign is progressing satisfactorily.

With every indicator pointing in this direction, the president today devoted his attention to the preparation of the $60,000,000 budget which will be recommended to the national legislature and to his annual message reporting the nation's legislative needs.

Meanwhile, the prospects of international action to stabilize world currencies on a gold basis received the careful study of those who have followed the development of the administrative monetary program, their conclusion.

CWA Funds To Be Asked Today For Five Atlanta Sewer Projects

Approval of five sewer stretches through CWA funds will be asked today by representatives of Atlanta, Decatur and Fulton and DeKalb counties.

The decision to make a formal request for a portion of the huge project designed to modernize the sewer system of metropolitan Atlanta was made Tuesday afternoon by a special steering committee named as a result of a conference at the city hall during the morning called by Mayor James L. Key.

The stretches approved Tuesday as rush jobs represent only those on which work can be begun immediately and are a part of the $6,000,000 program necessary to modernize the entire metropolitan area. Officials hope to obtain additional funds for other stretches to complete the entire program.

Every one who attended the conference urged immediate start on the improvements, citing the emergency existing in the sewer system and the need for prompt action.

In conference with Chief of Construction Clark Donaldson and Assistant City Engineer J. W. Matthews, the steering committee members agreed to ask for the five stretches to be completed by the end of the year.

84-Year-Old Atlantan Was Nationally Prominent in His Profession.

Dr. Robert Benjamin Adair, 84, widely known dentist and prominent in the field of dental research, died at about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at his residence at 957 Virginia avenue, S. E., after a lengthy illness. He had been retired from practice for several years.

Dental legislation received much of Dr. Adair's attention. A specialist in the treatment of pyorrhea, he was instrumental in securing the passage of laws to regulate the practice of dentistry in Georgia. It was through his efforts that the code of ethics of the profession was so modified as to permit specializing in practice.

Negro's Skull Flattens .45 Caliber Pistol Bullet

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 26.—(AP)—This is the story of a hard head, concerning one W. O. Pearson, negro.

Pearson, and a brother-in-law, Frank Bishop, had some words. Bishop pulled a .45-caliber pistol and fired. Pearson didn't fall. Instead, he was quoted by officers as saying he shook hands with Herbert H. Harris, his victim's father, and wished him "Merry Christmas" a few hours after the shooting.

In Penitentiary.

The sheriff and federal, state and city officers investigating the case said they obtained the confession from Wiles early today at the state penitentiary after a rigorous examination.

They held John Martin Rushton, a former employee of the boy's father, at the prison "for questioning." Rushton denied all knowledge of the case.

A large number of Columbians gathered today at the towering stone wall of the penitentiary to see the report spread that Wiles had confessed, but there was no display of violence.

A truck driver and a negro boot-black identified Wiles at the penitentiary as the man they had seen.

BOY, 11, IS KILLED WITH GIFT RIFLE

Jack Norris Shot Dead During Target Practice. Chum Held Blameless.

The combination of a Christmas rifle and target practice Tuesday brought tragedy when Jack Norris, 11, of 759 Woodland avenue, S. E., pupil of Annie E. West school, stepped in front of a gun held by Harry Smith, of 1083 Emerson avenue, just as the weapon was discharged, according to police reports. Jack died before he could be taken to Grady hospital.

The Norris and Smith boys had been hunting with John Bearden, of 754 Woodland, in the woods near the Soldiers' Home, using the rifle Bearden received as a Christmas present.

Target practice began when they stuck a knife in a clay bank near Confederate avenue and Alloway place.

The survivors said that the Norris boy walked into the path of the bullet just as the Smith boy fired. After the boy was pronounced dead at Grady hospital, Detectives Jones and Newton investigated, and reported that the shooting was accidental.

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Norris, Jack is survived by two brothers, Robert and I. B. Norris Jr.

The bullet struck young Norris in the forehead between the eyes. The Smith boy said that he did not see his chum until he fell to the ground. Smith is a student at Murphy Junior High school. Norris was taken to Grady hospital in an automobile driven by P. D. Williams, who was hailed by young Smith. Officers questioned Smith about the shooting, and released him after expressing themselves as satisfied that the death was accidental.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Howard L. Carmichael.

However, reports continued to arrive in the capital from El Ferrol, the Spanish naval base, that the cruiser Jaime I was being cleaned and trimmed, apparently for a lengthy journey.

By The Associated Press.

Atlanta last night prepared for 22-degree temperatures due here today as a wave of bitter cold, accompanied by raging winds that brought deaths on the Great Lakes and blizzards in New England states, swept across the United States on the course of snowstorms that piled high drifts in a dozen states.

Deaths from the cold and from accidents caused by the snow were estimated to have passed 30, including eight fishermen lost on Lake Michigan. In several sections, the worst of the weather was yet to come.

Temperatures ranged from below zero in the midwest. Chicago had a 16-degree drop in five hours, with 10 below predicted. The city reported 6.3 inches of snow.

New York had 10.3 inches of snow in seven hours that tied up shipping for hours, kept airplanes at home, delayed trains and buses. "No visibility" was reported from the New York harbor, and even ships at sea were troubled.

A terrific windstorm sunk the 100-foot fishing boat Martha, near the harbor of Michigan City, Ind., and carried four fishermen to their deaths. Four men were drowned when the tug Bremen capsized at South Haven, Michigan.

Atlanta is to experience the coldest weather of the season today, and while there is no prospect of snow the temperature is not expected to rise.

Troops Withdrawn From Arkansas Town

MARSHALL, Ark., Dec. 26.—(AP)—National guardsmen called to this north Arkansas mountain town to prevent a new food outbreak after a street battle Sunday night were withdrawn today following the arrest of seven men who allegedly participated in the Christmas Eve gun fight.

Those held here under bond are Jack, Alf and Noble Henley and Ted Switzer, while at Little Rock City Marshal J. H. Barnett, who was wounded slightly in the face during the battle which raged for several minutes, was in a hospital in technical custody and his two sons, Oscar and Robert, were in jail awaiting return here. All are charged with assault with intent to kill.

Sheriff G. M. Robertson was not too hopeful today of a peaceful settlement of the long-standing feud between the Henley and Barnett families, which is blamed for at least two slayings in recent years.

"An old and bitter feud may break out again any time," said the sheriff. However, he said he anticipated no trouble at the preliminary hearing for the men, set for tomorrow.

Wedell Fighting Cold, Winds In Race To Save Baby's Life

Wedell reached Baltimore at 1:35 o'clock, central time, Wednesday morning, an Associated Press dispatch reported.

With the life of a stricken five-month-old baby girl dependent on his skill in battling the wintry elements, James R. (Jimmy) Wedell, famed speed pilot, brought his plane to earth at Candler field at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, took on a hundred gallons of fuel, and in 25 minutes was aloft again in a cross-country dash for Baltimore and Johns Hopkins hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Trammell, of Houston, Texas, and their little daughter, Sue, who became gravely ill Sunday afternoon, were Wedell's passengers in a fast Lockheed Vega cabin plane. Three other persons completed the party which left Houston at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Holding her baby close, Mrs. Trammell, her husband, her mother, and the other passengers stepped from the plane and walked to the administration building at Candler field, where they waited during the few minutes required for Wedell and Beeler Blevins, noted Atlanta pilot, to refuel and make it shipshape for the northern hop. They said there was no change in the baby's condition since the party left Houston.

Wedell, in talking with The Constitution briefly, said he planned to put down at Greensboro, N. C., and from there would fly direct to Baltimore. Dr. Walter E. Dandy, famous surgeon, waits at Johns Hopkins to perform an emergency operation on the brain of the baby.

Wedell reached Greensboro at 10:50 o'clock, Atlanta time, and continued his journey north five minutes later. The last hundred miles of the flight from New Orleans Wedell described as "very rough." "We are maintaining a speed of about 140 miles an hour," he said, "and except for that last hundred miles everything was all right. They were tough going."

The child is suffering from what is commonly known as water on the brain. Symptoms were first shown Saturday, after members of the fam-

RAIL REFINANCING PRESENTS PUZZLE

Eastman Thinks U. S.
May Have To Aid in
$2,300,000,000 Task.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Further financial assistance from the government will be needed for the nation's railroads during the coming year, in the opinion of Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation.

Jones said today that the government or some other agency would have to help refinance the security issues that become due during the year. These issues together with other financial requirements of the railroads are estimated at around $2,300,000,000. Several railroads already have discussed the matter with the corporation, among them the New York Central, which has a maturity of $48,000,000 due May 1.

Most of the roads are asking the corporation to advance half of the maturities, planning to pay a portion of the bond issues in cash and the remainder with new bonds.

Up in Congress.

The question of what agency will help probably will be discussed in congress at the coming session. There have been indications in some quarters that when the question of extending the life of the Reconstruction Corporation comes up there might be some stiff opposition.

Jones indicated that the administration felt government participation in the financing program should be as small as possible.

"We must find some way to help the railroads make their security maturities," Jones said. "The government cannot take all the responsibility for the refinancing but probably will have to help. We'll have to work out some plan for the government to assist in a small part of the program."

Fifty-seven railroads now owe the corporation approximately $320,000,000. Total loans to railroads during

8-Pound Boy Is Born In Snow-Stalled Auto

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(UP)—An 8-pound boy was born today in an automobile stalled at a busy Bronx street intersection and unable to proceed toward a hospital because of snowdrifts.

After his car had stalled, the father hurried on foot to the Bronx maternity hospital, but the child was born before aid could arrive.

The mother, who was alone in the car, announced the stark arrival by vigorous blasts on the auto horn.

The last two years were $399,000,000 but some of this has been repaid.

Look to Banks.

In some government circles the belief was indicated today that banks will be expected to do more of the financing than they have in the last two years. One official asserted that "whatever financing of industry is done should be handled through banks. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation should have only a small participation."

The banks have a stake in the situation, this official continued, "and will have to do their part and look after the loans."

SCHOOL HEAD TELLS OF BEING ABDUCTED

Frank Rhinehart Charges
Kidnapers Threatened Him With Death.

SYLVIA, N. C., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A story of being abducted by two masked men Friday night, driven about over the mountains of North Carolina and Georgia for two days in an automobile and threatened with death was told today by Frank Rhinehart, 37, principal of the Beta school in Jackson county.

Rhinehart, who appeared in Sylvia bruised and apparently suffering from shock, said he was released on a highway between Clayton and Mountain City, Ga., Sunday and given his automobile there.

The school principal related that Friday night as he was going from Sylvia to his home at Webster his car was stopped at Dillsboro by another machine which was blocking the road and two men, masked and carrying pistols, seized him and took him from his car.

They carried him to Balsam Gap, 10 miles from here, Rhinehart said, and were joined there by a third man who blindfolded him and said:

"We're going to fix you up."

Until early Sunday when he was released, he said, he was driven over mountain roads in western North Carolina and Georgia. His captors forced him to crouch down in the machine during the driving hours, he said, so that he could not be seen.

Several times, he said, he was threatened with death and once was thrown under an approaching train at night, but was dragged from the track just as the engine was about to hit him.

Rhinehart told Sheriff J. J. Maney that one of two men who had been recognized by their voices as among his captors. No warrants were sworn out, however.

of congress and threw the loan into the presidential campaign of 1932.

Testifying last year before the senate stock market investigating committee, Dawes said his bank had loans outstanding to the Insull companies and individuals connected with them of almost $12,000,000.

All Turned Over.

He testified all of them had been turned over to the Reconstruction Corporation as collateral on the loan.

At that time, Dawes said, he was showing some of the bigger ones were $550,000 to the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee railroad; $1,055,000 to the Consolidated Properties Trust; $280,000 to Martin J. Insull; $500,000 to Samuel Insull and $2,840,286 to the Insull Utility Investment, Inc., an investment trust.

Questioned by members of the committee, Dawes conceded that in loaning so much to the Insull group his bank had violated the principle of the law which forbids a bank from loaning more than 10 per cent of its capital and surplus to a single borrower.

The total capital and surplus of his bank at the time, he said, was $27,000,000.

Fletcher said today his committee would not go into the relations between Harvey Couch, director of the Reconstruction Corporation and the Chase National bank on the basis of evidence before the stock market committee that the R. F. C. director has been indebted to the bank.

CWA SEWER FUND TO BE ASKED TODAY

Assistant Chief William A. Hansell, in charge of sewers, the committee Tuesday afternoon drafted petitions for the five stretches, which would entail a total expenditure of $836,350. The work, they contended could be begun at once, would afford relief to all sections of the affected area. A total of 1,378,000 man hours will be required to prosecute the stretches to completion, according to estimates made by Hansell.

Of the entire total estimated expense, only $182,150 would be expended for material and tools.

Program Decided Upon.

Following is the program decided upon and which will be carried out this morning before a meeting of the local board, headed by W. E. Mitchell, and which will be offered to the state board later this week:

1. McDaniel street south to the South river line, 19,200 feet, requiring 177,000 man hours of labor.
2. Sugar creek, extending from Entrenchment creek disposal plant to Kirkwood, 22,400 feet, 190,000 man hours.
3. Deird Hills, extending from the DeKalb-Fulton county lines to Druid Hills golf course, 12,000 feet, 168,000 man hours.
4. Peachtree creek, extending from Chattahoochee river to North side drive, 18,000 feet, 605,000 man hours.
5. Peachtree creek, extending from North Side drive to DeKalb-Fulton county lines, 20,000 feet, 225 man-hours.

The steering committee this morning will be supplemented by Alderman Frank H. Reynolds, chairman of council's sewer committee, representing Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, who will be out of the city; Charles A. Matthews, DeKalb commissioner, and George F. Longino, chairman of the Fulton county commission.

Donaldson, Hansell Invited.

Reynolds invited Donaldson and Hansell to attend the meeting with the local CWA committee in Matthews' office at 11 o'clock this morning in order to supply any needed technical data.

Key, Gilliam, Mitchell, Frank H. Neely, Wiley L. Moore, W. C. Crum and others urged immediate action at the conference opened Tuesday morning at the call of the mayor.

Prompt action with elimination of red tape and full co-operation of all governments involved and of citizens generally were the keynotes of various speeches.

Alderman J. Sid Tiller, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, told those assembled that labor does not oppose the sewer work from CWA funds.

"I want to correct an erroneous report," Tiller said. "There have been rumors that labor is opposing the sewers. That is not true. We favor them and from CWA funds. We did oppose use of convict labor on them as suggested sometime back."

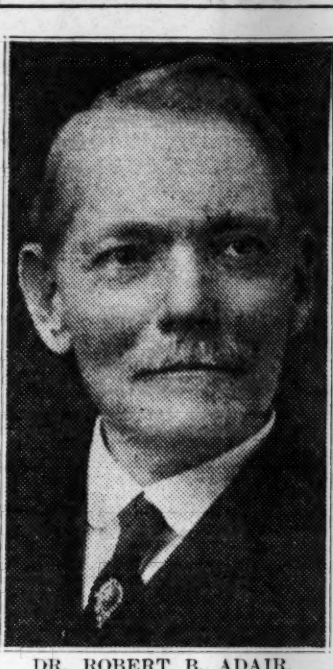

Asks Specific Projects.

J. A. Harper, member of the local CWA committee, told the group to decide on specific projects and send them to the local board. He also is prominent in labor circles.

"We haven't turned down a single request that had any merit," Harper said. "We will give it every consideration."

deacons of the First Baptist church will form an escort.

Dr. Adair was born in Jackson county, Georgia, May 27, 1849. He attended the public school there and had one year at Martin Institute in Jefferson county. He attended Baltimore Dental College in 1870, and was graduated from that institution March, 1871, and became a member of Georgia State Dental Society in 1872. His early years in the profession were spent in general practice in Gainesville, Ga., where he made a signal success, but he wanted to give himself more largely to the treatment of pyorrhea. So in 1895 he came to Atlanta, and specializing in that line of work, gave to the profession his post operative treatment for this disease. He was pyorrhea clinician during the ninth medical congress in Washington, D. C. (1887) in which dentistry was first given recognition by the medical profession.

Dr. Adair served for a number of years on the Georgia board of dental examiners and was president of the Georgia State Dental Society in 1890 and 1891. He prepared and read before dental societies many valuable papers, his latest being a treatise read before the Georgia State Dental Society in 1926 on "What Dentists Have Done in Science and Invention for the Benefit of Humanity Other Than in Dentistry."

He was an honorary member of the Dental Associations of the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Texas and New York. Dr. Adair was married in 1873 to Allene Victoria Moss, who died in 1907. An only son, Dr. Robin Adair, himself a dentist of wide reputation, died in 1929 in an automobile accident.

He was married a second time to Matt Meredith Simmes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert M. Simmes, of Raleigh, N. C., in 1912, who survives him, also surviving are four grandchildren, Frances, Robin, Millard and Benjamin Adair, and an only sister, Mrs. Josephine Hudson, all of Atlanta.

PERMANENT GROUP ON TRADE IS URGED

Peek Submits Recommendations on Organization to Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—George N. Peek, head of the temporary government export corporation, submitted his recommendations today to President Roosevelt for a permanent organization to promote foreign trade.

Mr. Roosevelt reserved decision pending another conference with Peek later in the week.

Peek declined to make public his recommendations but indicated that little or no legislation would be required to carry out his ideas for finding markets for American products.

The president has definitely laid down the principle of " Yankee trading" in dealing with the foreign nations on tariffs and this policy is now being pursued in connection with the liquor imports.

It was explained today that the question of war debts has never entered into any of the negotiations being carried on with liquor producing nations for increases in their liquor allotments.

William Phillips, acting secretary of state, said all negotiations were based on efforts to increase exports of American agricultural products.

Building Shows Gain This Side of Rockies

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Contracts for construction projects in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains during the first two weeks in December totaled $122,877,200, or more than 50 per cent above the total for the entire month of December last year.

Residential building projects amounted to $13,629,200, against $12,957,500 for the entire month of December, 1932, and public works and utilities contracts were almost twice as large. Non-residential building totaled $25,423,100, contrasted with $24,944,900 for the entire month of December last year.

In the month of November contracts amounting to $162,330,600 were reported for the same area, which was approximately 12 per cent greater than for October and about 55 per cent larger than reported during November, 1932.

WADSWORTH, Ala., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Two persons were believed killed and 13 injured today as a Louisville & Nashville freight train and 21 box cars were derailed near here. All were described as hoboes.

W. W. Jackson, Wadsworth resident, said a man and woman were believed buried under a slag car at the wreck, but that wreckers from Birmingham and Montgomery could not clear the debris before early tomorrow.

The injured at Montgomery included Calvin Gamble, 218 Powell street, Atlanta.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK FOR FEW CHANGES IN RECOVERY ACTS

riously aroused by the refusal of acting Secretary Morgenthau to answer a question whether a move in this direction was in the making.

Held Desirable.

Mr. Roosevelt only a few days ago expressed the hope that such action might be taken, without saying how soon he thought it should come about. His attitude for months has been that stabilization was not desirable until domestic commodity prices reached a satisfactory level.

Such revisions as Mr. Roosevelt may suggest of the recovery laws enacted last spring are expected to be of a minor nature and intended mainly to clarify their language or answer technicalities that have arisen in their operation.

Some amendments of this nature may be suggested for the farm bill and the truth in securities law. No modification of the latter is contemplated, it was said, despite the insistent clamor from certain business interests for action to make it less severe.

Facts Gathered.

To assist him in summarizing for congress conditions as they stand at the moment, Mr. Roosevelt has asked all federal agencies for reports, giving the views of key officers on the outlook for the future. In the latter respect the order exceeded the usual requests for information.

The agencies supplying the data are many, but particular emphasis was placed upon the federal reserve system which maintains up-to-the-minute indices on all business trends, the civil works administration, the public works administration and the recovery administration.

A report was current in Washington today, but could not be officially verified, that the mysterious meeting of federal reserve officials last Friday at the treasury was to prepare a business and industrial analysis. The meeting included the governors of many of the reserve banks who were hurriedly summoned to Washington.

Today the newly mined domestic gold price was held at $34.06, unchanged since December 18. Chairman Jones of the Reconstruction Corporation announced that his agency had bought 525,000 ounces at a total cost of $17,594,000. Later Morgenthau disclosed that last week's treasury purchases of government bonds aggregated $16,510,000, slightly less than the week previous.

Woman Flyer Observes 29th Birthday in Air

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Weary from six days spent in circling clouds monotonously through the skies, Frances Marsalis and Helen Richey tonight were within striking distance of a new woman's record.

Should the flight continue without difficulty, the women will equal the present mark of eight days four hours and six minutes at 5,000 m. Thursday. They will have to remain aloft an hour longer, however, to officially break the record.

Mrs. Marsalis observed her 29th birthday in the skies today, but in a note dropped to the ground crew, declared "it won't be my happy birthday for me unless we break the record and set a new one that won't be reached by anyone else."

cety took part in the actual stabbing.

He said it was possible 20 other members of the society were present in the Holy Cross Armenian church when the archbishop, clad in the colorful garments of his office, was assassinated as he led a procession up the aisle the day before Christmas.

A meeting of 75 members of Tashnak was held on Thursday night, Cohn said. He said members of the society learned at that meeting that the archbishop would attend the Sunday services.

Sketching the facts gathered about the society, Cohn recalled the nearest to the Chicago World's Fair on Armenian day, July 2, when the archbishop refused to speak until the flag of the old Armenian republic was hauled down.

He told of subsequent attacks on the archbishop and of the schism which developed in the church at the meeting of its council here in September.

Twenty witnesses were called for questioning today—among them Vartken Aharovians, a son of the former president of the Armenian republic, Cohn said. Others were George Kazanjian and Miss Astrak Dagavarian, both choir singers. The archbishop fell into Kazanjian's arms after the assassin's knife was plunged into his abdomen.

Meanwhile, police extended the search for the slayers to New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, indicating more than 20 arrests would be made before the investigation is completed.

HERRIOT'S DEMAND ON DEBTS UNHEARD

Former French Premier
Again Urges His Country
Pay War Debt.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The new blast of former Premier Edouard Herriot in favor of payment by France of its war debts to the United States fell "like a pebble in the ocean," a government spokesman said today.

M. Herriot said he recognized "my opinion is unpopular," and that the statement passed unnoticed.

The former premier, whose cabinet was overthrown on the debt issue last year, asserted "we committed a grave mistake" in not recognizing the debts as Great Britain did.

France on December 15 made its third default to the United States on $22,200,000 interest on the remaining $3,863,650,000 debt. At the same time, England made a token payment.

In the event Premier Camille Chautemps' cabinet falls, political circles believe, M. Herriot will be a strong possibility to succeed him. In his statement on the issue, the former premier broke a long silence on the subject.

"The position we have taken has isolated us," he declared, urging his country to reflect "what might happen in the case of a European war."

"I am for as close contact as possible with the United States of America," the statesman added.

Following the overthrow of his cabinet in December, 1932, M. Herriot campaigned for debt payment, but with the present cabinet and the chamber of deputies apparently strongly opposed to action on the subject at this time, it was believed he would follow a waiting attitude.

TYRE JENNINGS SR. DIES AT AGE OF 69

Widely Known Insurance Man Had Been Ill for Six Months.

Tyre L. Jennings Sr., 69, cashier of the southern department of the Commercial Union Assurance Company, died of a heart attack Tuesday morning at his residence in the Pershing Point apartments. He had been ill for about six months.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Peachtree Christian church. Dr. Robert Burns, the pastor, will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery. Active pallbearers will be Dowdell Brown, E. M. Ransom, Roy K. Hendee, Eugene Jarrard, John H. Harland and Rufus Brown.

Elders and deacons of the Peachtree Christian church, of which Mr. Jennings was a charter member, will form an escort. Mr. Jennings was an elder of the church and had been an officer of the membership since its organization. He also was a member of the old Gate City guard.

Born in South Carolina, October 10, 1864, Mr. Jennings was taken to south Georgia, near Americus, by his parents when he was three years old. His father was a widely known planter. He came to Atlanta as a young man in 1888 and went to work for Moore, Marsh & Company, and later became connected with Inman, Smith & Company, cotton brokers.

Mr. Jennings later became cashier for W. E. Chapin, general agent of the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Company, a position he held for 20 years until he became cashier for the Commercial Union Assurance Company, of which Dowdell Brown is manager.

Surviving Mr. Jennings are his wife, who was Miss Margaret Hook, the daughter of the late Judge James Schley Hook of Augusta; a daughter, Mrs. R. W. Crenshaw, of Atlanta; a son, Tyre L. Jennings Jr.; four sisters, Mrs. Walton Walters, of Plains, Ga.; Mrs. Edward T. Clark, Mrs. Clair McLendon and Mrs. Frank Stevens, all of Ashburn, Ga.; six grandchildren, Miss Jane Crenshaw and Miss Margaret Crenshaw, Edie and Robert W. Crenshaw Jr., and Tyre L. Jennings III, and Daryl Jennings, and several nieces and nephews.

The following officers will be installed by the lodges named: Altoona Lodge No. 392—John T. Bradley, president; J. R. Northcutt, vice president; H. M. Day, secretary, and J. T. Brown, treasurer. Georgia Lodge No. 866—G. J. Shirley, president; W. W. Swann, vice president; F. F. Harris, secretary, and P. C. Davis, treasurer. Atlanta Lodge No. 720—G. T. Findley, president; A. A. $20,000 IN POSTAGE NOT TO BE CHARGED TO BUYERS OF TAGS

Governor Eugene Talmadge said Tuesday that he had decided not to make 1934 purchasers of auto tags pay postage on their tags even if they are bought by mail, adding that the state would bear the estimated $20,000 expense for stamps and wrapping of the tags. The postage will be paid out of funds derived from the sale of tags and allocated to the highway department.

For some time the governor has been debating whether or not to make the tags $3 each, but Atlanta because Chairman Paul H. Doyal of the state revenue commission reported the $20,000 would cut a deep hole in the motor vehicle division's $800,000 appropriation; in fact, so deep that it would be hard to operate on what remained after the $20,000 had been expended for stamps.

"The state will provide funds for mailing the tags," the governor said. "The flat price of $3 will still be in effect."

Governor Talmadge said that the formal order fixing the $3 tag price would not be issued until early on the morning of January 2, the day the 1934 tags are placed on sale.

FULTON TO SELECT TEN CWA PROJECTS

Plans for employing about 1,000 men will be discussed Wednesday by the board of county commissioners, which will select 10 projects out of a list of 25 already approved by the CWA.

County Engineer E. E. Yantis is engaged on preparing a survey of proposed grading and repaving projects in old Milton county, which will be submitted to the CWA for approval.

On the 10 projects to be selected Wednesday, and on which work will be begun immediately after their designation, the county will furnish crushed stone for repaving, and the CWA will furnish sand and labor. The jobs will be distributed throughout Fulton county.

Ruptured Men Get $3.50 Truss Free

Pay No Money—Now or Ever, for This Truss.

Kansas City, Mo.—A newer rupture method developed by a doctor is so successful he offers to give every ruptured man or woman who tries it, a $3.50 truss free. It does away with leg straps, elastic belts, binding springs and harsh pads. After using it, many have reported their ruptures better. Often in a very short time. Others say they no longer need any support. The doctor offers to send his method on 30 days trial and will send the $3.50 truss free with it. If the method does not help your rupture return it and keep the $3.50 truss for your trouble. If you are ruptured write Dr. Kaiser, 1223 Koch Bldg., 2006 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., for his trial offer.—(adv.)

Cold Weather Delays Gov. Talmadge's Hunt

Predictions of colder weather Tuesday caused Governor Talmadge to postpone at least until today his start for McRae, where he planned to join a hunting party today. The governor intended to go on to Savannah and to return New Year's Eve.

"If the expected cold weather shows up today I'll probably cancel the trip altogether," the governor said. "I do not like to hunt in cold weather."

2 Conferences Set On Electric Rates

Two conferences regarding electric power rates are to be held at the state capitol today.

The first will be between officials of the Georgia Power Company and the Georgia public service commission regarding the delayed revision into commercial rates of customers of the company. The company has agreed to accept a cut of about $175,000 yearly and the commission has not yet determined the spread of the reduction. It is expected that this spread will be discussed at today's session.

The second conference will be between officials of the power company and representatives of municipalities who own their own distributing plants and acquire their power from the company. It is understood that the company has agreed to take a 10 per cent reduction in municipal rates but the cities want a greater decrease. Chairman J. P. Wilhoit will sit in on this meeting although the commission does not fix these rates, they being made by agreement between the utility and the municipalities.

HAROLD B. FIELD RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

His wife and son were reported severely hurt in a collision in which Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Furr, of Birmingham, were only slightly hurt. Mr. Field was a traveling salesman and resided in Montgomery, Ala. He was widely known in Atlanta and Decatur, where his parents reside. He attended Emory University.

MONTEVIDEO MEET ENDS IN HARMONY

Warless Americas Envisaged as Nations Conclude Conference.

By G. D. SEYMOUR.

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Upon a mighty chord of peace, the seventh Pan-American conference ended tonight its 22-day session which the final speakers forecast will forever be associated with the outlawing of war from the Americas.

Rejoicing over an armistice in hostilities between Bolivia and Paraguay and evidences that a dispute between Colombia and Peru over the Leticia border area were proceeding toward a peaceful settlement mingled in the final meeting with vows that the peace now attained must be preserved by common effort through the future.

The economic goals considered foremost at the outset on December 3 fell into the background tonight as conference leaders expressed the idea of a warless hemisphere and declared that this conference must live as "a congress of peace."

Alberto Mane, the Uruguayan minister of foreign affairs, maintained

U. D. C. To Entertain Confederate Veterans

Santa Claus had to rush back to his north pole workshop, but before leaving he delegated the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to see to it that residents of the Soldiers' Home enjoy the Christmas season. Santa's wish will be carried out at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Twenty-three Confederate veterans, ranging in age from 83 to 94, will be the guests of the chapter at a Christmas party, with a Christmas tree and other entertainment.

The veterans will be given parties by other organizations during the week.

peace now attained must be preserved by common effort through the future.

The economic goals considered foremost at the outset on December 3 fell into the background tonight as conference leaders expressed the idea of a warless hemisphere and declared that this conference must live as "a congress of peace."

Alberto Mane, the Uruguayan minister of foreign affairs, maintained

that "Pan-Americanism signifies peace, the continuation of democracy, the conservation of independence and the equality of states, and the permanent co-ordination of the peoples for peace, organization, and liberty."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull said his "most enduring remembrance" of the conference will be "the beautiful patriotism, the patience, and the statesmanship of the Bolivian and Paraguayan delegates in the midst of delicate and anxious problems."

A resolution was unanimously and enthusiastically indorsed for seeking an extension of the 11-day armistice in the Gran Chaco warfare between Paraguay and Bolivia.

Representatives of the two nations thanked the conference for its peace efforts and asserted that although a solution in the conflict is still in the offing the obstacles to peace can be overcome.

NORRIS ADVISES FARLEY TO QUIT ONE OF JOBS

Senator Criticizes Mixing of Governmental Business and Partisan Politics.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, said today James A. Farley should not serve as postmaster-general in President Roosevelt's cabinet and remain chairman of the democratic national committee.

He declined to say whether he had suggested to Farley that he resign from one position or the other.

"No man should have control of as many appointments as the postmaster-general has and be chairman of a political party," Norris said in an interview.

"Particularly is that true when the men whose appointments he controls have nothing to do in their official capacities with politics."

The Nebraskan asserted the postmaster-general headed "what ought to be a great government business institution" which he said "should contain no politics in the job-getting sense."

"The same was true in President Coolidge's administration when Senator Butler, of Massachusetts, remained chairman of the republican national committee while in the senate," Norris added. "His ability to control votes on a purely political basis gave him an unfair advantage."

President Roosevelt, Norris said, "has done a great deal to encourage those who believe in honest, business-like politics."

Georgia Telegrams Protest Withdrawal of CWA Support

Hopkins Releases Batch of Messages Written as Result of Criticism Directed by Talmadge.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(P)—Harry Hopkins, civil works administrator, handed to newspapermen today without comment a batch of telegrams from Georgia protesting against any withdrawal of civil works projects from rural areas of the state.

The messages, bearing the names of county and city officials and citizens, came in the wake of criticism directed by Governor Talmadge, of Georgia at civil works "high wages" and an expression of concern by the executive over what he described as a probable shortage of farm labor due to civil works activity.

The telegrams included: "Wilkes county regrets opposition to civil works program. If the work is discontinued approximately 1,000 men will be unable to find employment. Every consideration that you can give us towards continuing the work will be appreciated." (Signed) Mrs. Susie Wills, administrator; A. G. McInnis, chairman committee; W. L. Johnson, mayor; J. W. Calaway, chairman county commissioners; R. O. Barksdale, ordinary; C. D. Bolton, mayor of Tignall.

From Millen, Ga.: "Rural Georgia communities appreciate most highly the great work being done by the CWA. Governor Talmadge is all wet about the workers being able to get jobs in the cities and as for wrecking the farmers it is the same old story of never being satisfied. The AAA has advanced the position of the farmers 50 per cent, and they seem not to want the common tenant and laborer to get a break. Most farmers want to keep free labor as a reserve labor supply and forever hold them as slaves and peons. If every CWA administrator and the leaders of the agricultural communities will do their jobs this program cannot hurt but will greatly aid in caring for the surplus unemployed who will increase as various crop acreages are decreased. You and your organization are doing great work and it is appreciated." (Signed) "WALTER HARRISON," Mayor.

From Adel: "Press reports indicate intention withdrawing CWA employment this section February 1 order avoid depletion farm labor. Criticism of program unjustified and by no means expression sentiment this state. Currentment acreage cash crops releases thousands farm laborers and despite continuation of employment program there will remain an abundance of available labor. Situation too grave for evident uniformed and prejudiced criticism to hamper. We earnestly and respectfully urge that program be continued this section." (Signed) "J. J. Parrish, mayor city of Adel; J. A. Fausett, president Commercial Club; J. B. Sasser, president Lions Club; W. M. Everts, chairman Cook county commissioners."

Albany Leader Lauds CWA. "Civil works tremendous good in this section. I consider it would be a great calamity to discontinue now or February 1." (Signed) "E. A. FRY, Mayor."

From Oglethorpe: "Our community very much disturbed over report that CWA work was discontinued February 1. To do this would be a calamity under existing conditions. Our citizens, including farmers, solidly behind program. Urge that work be permitted to continue until at least around May 15 as planned and that neither Georgia or any rural community be discriminated against." (Signed) "CHARLES A. GREER, Mayor."

From Cuthbert: "I am receiving many protests to the suggested discontinuance of CWA work in Georgia. I urge you to make a careful survey of the entire situation and to give careful consideration to the needs and condition of our unemployed and also the status of our farmers before any further action is taken. I suggest further that Lincoln McConnell's advice might be of material assistance." (Signed) "B. T. CASTELLON, M. C., Third Dist. Ga."

Buchanan Assistance Cited. From Buchanan: "We appreciate your work in this county. We will have 500 able-bodied men unemployed when farms are supplied with labor for 1934 crops. Our people with you 100 per cent." (Signed) "Board of Commissioners Roads and Revenues, Hixson County, Georgia; F. E. McBrayer, Chairman; Thomas A. Hutcheson and J. E. Smith, Commissioners; Mrs. L. S. Strickland, Clerk."

From Register: "The citizens of Register, Ga., highly appreciate work of the CWA. Men on this work have not had employment in two years are now supporting large dependent families which are in urgent need. The CWA work here cannot possibly affect farm work here. Under our restricted farm program we will have large surplus of farm labor. We want the CWA work to continue in this territory regardless of what certain state officials may say. We believe it to be a sustaining factor in this territory and a blessing to many who find employment under the CWA program. Many would be in dire need unless the CWA continues to help them." This telegram bears almost 100 signatures.

Governor Talmadge Tuesday night declined to comment on the Hopkins press release.

B. Y. P. U. DELEGATES TO STUDY LYNCHINGS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 26.—(P)—The conference sessions of the south-wide Baptist Young People's Union, starting tomorrow and continuing through Friday, will include discussions of lynching in a general study of racial problems and a discussion of leisure time resulting from operation of the NRA.

Andrew D. Tanner, chairman of the Nashville general committee for the conference, said that current problems generally will be considered and that attention will be given to modern moral standards. "Young people are as much concerned with these problems as are adults and there is no reason why they too should not meet and discuss them," he said. Adoption of resolutions is not contemplated, Mr. Tanner said, explaining that the purpose of the conference is "to lay plans for gaining inspiration and for the more efficient accomplishment of work through local organizations in the south."

He said 18 southern states will be represented at the meeting by approximately 3,000 delegates. A membership of 600,000 is enrolled in the union. Registration for the meeting began today.

The theme of the conference is "Christ Our Authority," and addresses, conference meetings and musical presentations have been arranged in relation to this topic. Presiding at the morning session tomorrow, J. E. Lambdin, secretary and editor of the B. Y. P. U., will outline the organization's program for 1934. Dr. Harold W. Tribble of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, is the principal speaker at the morning program and two talks relating to liquor will be heard in the afternoon.

Among those who will address the B. Y. P. U. conferences is Dr. George W. Truett, of Dallas, past president of the Southern Baptist Convention. On Thursday night a dinner will be given in honor of Dr. J. J. Van Ness, executive secretary of the Baptist Sunday school, commemorating his 34 years of service. Atlanta and Waco, Texas, are seeking the next biennial conference meeting.

Beer Taxes Total $29,600 in Atlanta

Atlanta collected $29,600 for beer sales here since May, according to the annual report Tuesday of J. Henson Tatum, city clerk, who listed revenue licenses totaling $175,817 from his department for the year. Beer is expected to net $50,000 to the treasury next year.

Tatum's report showed that 700 licenses were issued for new businesses during the year, and that 400 of that number were issued during the last two months, indicating a healthy condition for business.

Despite the increase in revenue from some sources for 1933, the total collected from the clerk's office was about $18,000 less than in 1932, the report showed. Gross receipts from two public utilities, the Georgia Power Company and the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, was $249,723 in 1933 as compared to $290,686 last year.

Byrd Pushes Forward After Delay by Fog

ABOARD ADMIRAL BYRD'S FLAGSHIP, OFF ANTARCTICA, Dec. 26.—(By MacKay Radio)—(P) With the lifting of a fog that caused a 40-hour delay, the expedition of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd proceeded today toward Little America.

The delay, however, made possible several investigations, among them a sounding which showed there was no bottom at 9,000 feet and a study of green, blue and brown rocks embedded in a broken iceberg which drifted past the ship.

Dr. Charles Gill Morgan, geologist, said the rocks bore evidence of having been broken by heavy masses passing over them and were interesting because no coast had been discovered in the vicinity, 66.30 south latitude and 141.30 west longitude. The iceberg was described as from a fresh water glacier.

Members of the expedition attended a smoker and had a dinner consisting, among other things, of turkey, lobster salad, squash, fruit cake and candy.

Liquor, Rice 'Trade' Arranged With Greece

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(P)—Greece is to be permitted to send 125,000 gallons of wines and liquors to the United States in exchange for 3,000 tons of American rice. This trade was completed today between the Greek minister, Charalampos Simoupos, and members of the interdepartmental alcohol committee, which is handling the admission of liquors.

Greece was granted an initial quota of 25,000 gallons, but the volume was increased to five times that amount in consideration of the decision of the Greek government to relieve United States of surplus rice. CAR PLUNGES 25 FEET FROM BOLTON BRIDGE. For the second time in several weeks, an automobile early Tuesday morning went through the railing of the Bolton bridge over the Chattahoochee river and crashed 25 feet to the river bank, inflicting painful injuries on the driver, Nelson R. Reeves, of 5 Collier road, N. W. Reeves' accident paralleled that of two men who recently plunged through the railing on the opposite side of the bridge. He said he had the other accident in mind and was going slow, but in trying to avoid some spikes sticking out of the planks the wheels of his car became engaged with the wet car tracks and he skidded from the bridge. He was on his way to visit a sister in Marion, Ind., but returned home after the accident. The car struck a guy wire in falling and turned over to land on its wheels.

Coaches Propose To Abolish 'Dead' Ball, Fumble Rules

BREAK O' DAY!
By Ralph Ingham

He Is Just as Apt as Not To Be Manager Joe Engel

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 26.—There is a rather substantial report going around this town that when the 1934 baseball season begins in the Southern association Joseph Engel will be down there on the bench wagging his fingers at the Lookouts and making other managerial signs.

They say also that the announcement would have been made weeks ago but that Joseph Engel, the club president, is kicking like a Texas steer and that Clark Griffith, the old fox at Washington, keeps saying: "Now, Joey; now, Joey; don't get excited. It won't be nearly as bad as you think."

Joe Engel is in Washington saying nothing in his most emphatic manner. And meanwhile the situation here is rather muddled up. There are some who suggest that there be a different manager appointed for each game so that any latent managerial talent would be developed. But knowing some of the players as they do, they believe this would lead to some terrible days.

Washington would like very much to dispose of the Chattanooga park and franchise, things being as they are. Because the Lookouts have never made money even when they were winning the pennant, Chattanooga's first since the gay nineties. This was during the 1932 season. The Chattanooga fans showed their gratitude for the pennant by staying away from the park in vast multitudes when the Dixie series was played. The new pine overflow seats were quite bare and lonely looking and great chunks of the regular stands were uninhabited.

Joe Engel may become the manager and I rather hope he will. Because managing is becoming one of the lost arts in the minor leagues and Joe Engel would be as good as any half dozen or more minor league pilots one could name. Only Engel would be funnier. And never dull, and that is something.

HE GAVE THEM A SHOW.

I will say this for Joe Engel, he had the rival owners going around in circles when he was in there doing his stuff. And had not the well-known depression come along in full force Joe Engel would have run a lot of well-meaning but dull rivals out of baseball in this league.

The first two years he was in the league saw him spending money like a sailor on a spree. And he got results. He aroused more enthusiasm than any town, in the league ever saw. And he had a crowd which followed him around everywhere he went, saying "yes" to him and slapping his back and leading impromptu cheers.

I recall one day when the mayor and the town officials brought forth a silver and gold plaque on a piece of polished wood. It related that Joe Engel was held in high esteem by all the townspeople and that all he had to do was to ask and he would receive.

It might be a good idea for Joe Engel to get that plaque down off the wall in his office and parade it around town. Because some of the townspeople have forgot. They had a pennant in 1932 but last year didn't do so well. And so they have forgotten a lot of their esteem and love for Joseph Engel.

When Engel had to quit handing out $10 and $20 bills and suits of clothes here and there a lot of his volunteer cheer leaders and yes-men left him.

But I would say that all this was a break for him and that he can now come back to work as either a front man or the manager and do a good job of it. He is really a good guy, this Engel.

He is a great guy and he knows baseball. And he would add quite a lot of interest to the bench.

ELEPHANTS AND RAW MEAT.

Joe Engel produced the circus feature in this section. He had his rival owners duffy because they could not match the nimble-brained Engel in promotional stunts.

He had downtown parades in which the mayor and city officials walked. And he brought in elephants and camels and trained dogs and all sorts of four-legged friends to help ballyhoo the game. And he tripled his attendance.

The first year he was in as owner he capitalized on his manager who was "Raw Meat" Bill Rodgers. It was "Raw Meat" Bill's fancy to eat steak raw, greatly to the horror of waitresses who have been known to flee the scene on witnessing Bill Rodgers start after a steak.

Joe Engel used to have big raw, red beef bones served on the coaching line, a colored boy carrying them out on a silver tray to where "Raw Meat" Bill Rodgers, that worthy, would gnaw them and yell very ferociously indeed to the great delight of the crowd. There was always something doing in Chattanooga in those days. The newspaper boys had a place fitted up at the park with red plush chairs and electric refrigeration in it. And everything was going strong.

It was the next year that Joe Engel gave a baseball writers' dinner which was well attended. There was a broadcast of the dinner program including speeches by all the guests. There were a couple of orchestras playing and some tap dancers were dancing between speeches. The program was taken off the air soon after its inception but it went on for an hour. The beautiful part was that the longest, dullest speech of the evening went into the dead mike.

But last year things were not so good. Baseball in the minor leagues was fighting to survive, not to spend any money. The local fans, used to the magnificent gesture on the part of Joe Engel, are still upset at the failure to spend money. In a year when no one had it to spend.

Also a circus parade opened the 1933 season and it appears that there was a mistake made. Some of the clowns got mixed up with the ball players and stayed around all year trying to play baseball.

A GREAT SCOUT.

Joe Engel was a great left-hander when he broke into baseball. And he is a great baseball scout, all Washington's stars being proteges of his.

He was owner of the Atlanta Crackers for a few days. That was when he signed an option to purchase the Crackers in the summer of 1929. He was already installed as president and had ordered the red plush chairs and the refrigerator for the newspaper office.

One day he picked up the telephone and said "What!" in a loud voice. He listened a while and then said, "Oh, my goodness." Whereupon he put on his coat and hat and rushed out of the office. Clark Griffith just called from Washington and called off the deal.

There is still a picture in The Constitution files of Joe Engel receiving the Atlanta baseball keys. At any rate this is a salute to one of the finest fellows in baseball. And manager or owner, I wish him well.

ALL-STAR TEAMS OPEN TWO-A-DAY PRACTICE DRILLS

East and West Players Scrimmage for New Year Game.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Eastern and western football luminaries, preparing for the annual charity game here New Year's Day, started a two-day workout program today.

At Palo Alto the east's coaches, Andy Kerr, of Colgate, and Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, sent their charges through a drill on the dozen plays that have been given them to date.

The squad was divided into two eleven-man units as follows: Ends—Robinson, Minnesota, and Skladany, Pittsburgh; tackles—Walton, Pittsburgh, and Cepel, Princeton; guards—Gallus, State, and Schammel, Iowa; center—Bernard, Michigan; quarterback—Soleau, Colgate; halfback—Feathers, Tennessee, and Laws, Iowa; fullback—Lukats, Notre Dame.

Ends—Anderson, Colgate, and Gillman, Ohio State; tackles—Wiley, Northwestern, and Jones, Indiana; guards—James Bucknell and Hupke, Alabama; center—Peters, Colgate; quarterback—Pardoner, Purdue; halfbacks—Merharis, Michigan, and Sebastian, Pittsburgh; fullback—Danowski, Fordham.

The lineups were described as mere "experimental." Coach Hanley said the players were fitting into their assignments satisfactorily. A few scrimmage sessions will be held this week.

Western players worked out in Berkeley under Coach Percy Loefer, of Denver, and Orin Hollingberg, of Washington State. One team was lined up as follows: Ends—Stall, Washington, and Morris, Colorado; tackles—Schwamm, Oregon State, and Field, Oregon State; guards—McMorris, California, and Stevens, Southern California; center—Hughes, Oregon; quarterback—McNeish, Southern California; halfbacks—Ward, Idaho, and Sauer, Nebraska; fullback—Graham, Kansas State.

On the other eleven were: Ends—Fred Cantrius, St. Mary's, and Fred Olympic Club; tackles—Jorgensen, St. Mary's, and O'Brien, Nebraska; guards—Barton, Denver, and Cupoletti, Oregon; center—Coats, C. C. Sorbore, Washington State; halfbacks—Neh, Columbia College, and Bowman, Oregon State; fullback—Mikulak, Oregon State.

Backfield offense and defense were stressed. A place kick elimination contest produced three men, Jorgensen, Smith and Schwamm, as standouts and about on a par, Neh, Sauer, Sorbore and McNeish excelled at punting.

Skull practice was the most important part of Tuesday's drill. The Atlantans must do up a method of stopping the "V-8s," principally Bill Redd and Dave Mitchell. Redd scored 17 points and Mitchell 16 when the Atlantans played the V-8's in Chattanooga.

The V-8's, who are recognized as one of the strongest teams in the south, defeated the local team when the two met recently in Chattanooga. And a bitter battle in the offing with the Atlanta team hoping to avenge their defeat. This game was the first played by the Atlantans as a pro team, and they expect a creditable showing despite their loss by a small score. The Atlantans arrived late for the game, and did not have time enough to limber up before starting time.

The Chattanooga team have gathered together a splendid aggregation, and they well deserve the high praise that has been given them. Famous first as Bill Redd's old Rail-Lites, then as the Tecops, later as the Dynamo's the V-8's have been playing together as a pro team for a long time. The nucleus of the present team is the same as of old, despite the changes in name. Bill Redd, Humphrey Phillips and Andy Bennett are still coveting at the forward posts.

The Atlanta team has improved rapidly since the opening game. They defeated the Birmingham team here, showing splendid team work. Manager Harry Richmond believes that with the home surroundings and the additional time they have to practice together his team should be able to turn back the invaders.

The local team will be represented by Nolen Richardson, Bill Perkins, Jack English, Joyner White, Lukie Rosenberg, Pat Terrell, Pat Stephens and Al Vaden. All these boys are experienced players, and with a little seasoning as professionals they should develop into the strongest team in the Southern pro league.

As a special feature, Manager Richmond announces that Crasy Bull, grandson of Sitting Bull, will give an exhibition with bow and arrow. A large crowd is expected to take advantage of the new low prices.

Fulton has will play an opponent yet to be determined in a preliminary game beginning at 7 o'clock. Tom State will referee the main game, which is scheduled to begin at 9:30.

Pulis Wins Fifth Consecutive Race

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Pulis, a three-year-old colt, sent Pulis into today's race with his fifth consecutive victory as he accounted for the Bi-louxi purse of a mile and a sixteenth at Jefferson Park.

In contrast to his other victories, the gelding, with Buddy Haas in the saddle, enjoyed a comfortable margin at the end of the journey. Culloden, veteran campaigner, was a eighth and a half back in second place with Plumage another four lengths to the rear in the show position.

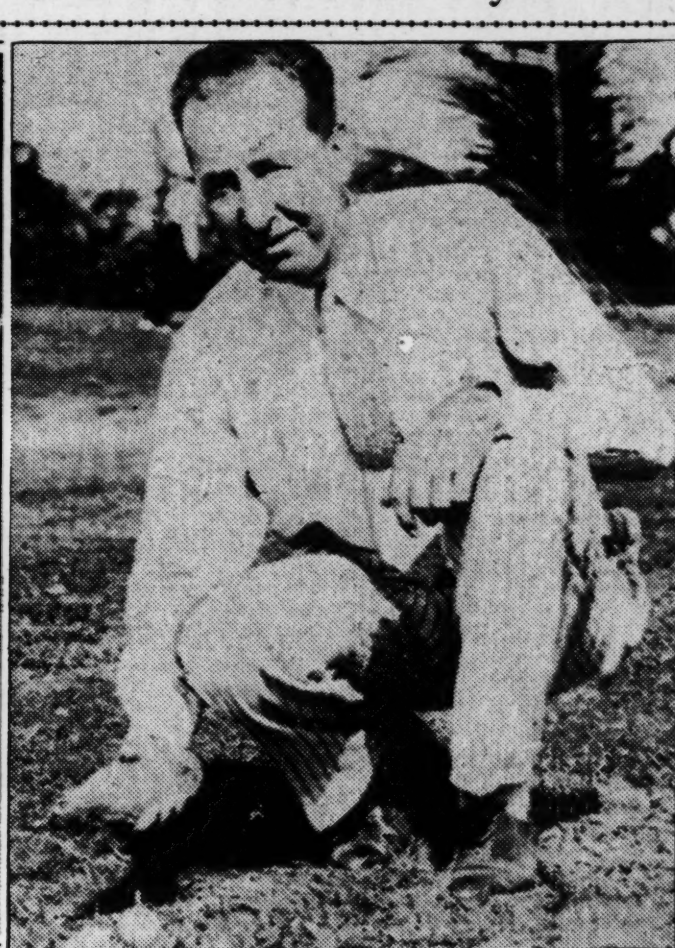

Haas, who also won the sixth race with Princess Zelda, sent Pulis into command as the field left the back stretch. Culloden supplied some opposition in the stretch but the winner was in hand as he crossed the finish line.

Both of Haas' mounts were well backed. Pulis paid $4.80 for $2 and Princess Zelda returned $4.40 for a similar priced mutual ticket.

MacFarlane Shows How New Golf Code Aids Players

Several of the new playing rules of golf will bring the average golfer moments of happiness as they lessen the number of aggravating angles of the game. Willie MacFarlane, recent winner of the Miami-Biltmore open tourney in Florida, shows, in three pictures, what the new code permits. Picture three—removal of loose impediments which may obstruct shot, in this case a "stray" pop bottle. Picture one —dropping the ball so that it is no nearer the hole than it was before being picked up. Picture two—Willie "soles" his club, which you may now do at any place not considered a hazard on the course. Paths and bushes are no longer considered hazards. These new rulings simplify matters for the sadly harassed duffer as well as the star professional or amateur.

Godwin Meets Rosenbloom Again

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 26.—(UP)—Sighting of Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, and Bob Godwin, Adel (Ga.) challenger, for a 12-round non-title bout here on January 4 was announced today by Lew Diamond, director for Bob Moore, matchmaker for the local disabled American Veterans arena.

The encounter will be the fifth meeting of Rosenbloom and Godwin. In four non-title bouts Rosenbloom has earned one decision and three have resulted in draws. The champion scored a technical knockout over Godwin in their only title bout.

The fighters battled to a 10-round draw here last week. Fans protested the decision vociferously and Diamond said the referee for the January 4 bout would be instructed to award the decision to either one man or the other and would not be permitted to call it a draw.

TILDEN SEEKS PRO NET TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Playing again on home courts, William T. "Big Bill" Tilden seeks the national professional indoor tennis title in the fourth annual tournament which gets under way at the Penn Athletic Club tomorrow.

Competing in tourney play in his home town for the first time in several years, Tilden hopes to dethrone Vincent Richards, with whom he waged many spectacular net battles in their days as America's leading amateurs.

Bruce Barnes, former University of Texas star, is seeded third; Francis T. Hunter, one-time amateur champion, fourth; Emanuel Panos, Chicago, eighth, and Charles Wood, New York, sixth. Hans Nusslein, of Germany, heads the foreign contingent of 16, with Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakia, seeded behind him. Sixteen are in the field.

Tilden meets Tom Wortley, of Pelham, N. Y., in the first round; Richards opposes Walter Kinsella, New York; Barnes engages Ed Faulkner, Philadelphia, and Hunter faces George Jennings, Chicago. Play continues until Sunday.

'Gus' Monroe Dies At Louisville Home

A. H. (Gus) Monroe Sr., popular in Atlanta golf circles for many years, died Tuesday morning at his home in Louisville, Ky., it was learned here today. Formerly lived in Atlanta, Monroe was connected with the district offices of the Standard Oil Company and served as their auditor and later city agent while stationed in the Atlanta territory.

He had been retired for several years and despite advice from physicians played golf regularly at the East Lake club, where he was a member. He was particularly interested in tournament play and aided the officials of many tourneys here.

Brown, Vandy Star Ruled Ineligible

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Failing to meet scholastic requirements, Sam Brown, of Dallas, Texas, outstanding lineman on the 1933 Vanderbilt University football team, will not be eligible for next year's eleven, it was announced today.

Beckett Named In P. G. A. Group

Howard Beckett, professional at the Capital City Golf Club, has been named on the educational committee of the Professional Golfers' Association of America. Beckett has not been informed as to the exact nature of his duties. It is expected that these will include standard instruction and aid to young pros.

Tway and Gray Win Christmas Shoot Here

Clowers and Charley Tway High in Handicap Division; Large Crowd Attends.

By Jack Troy.

It seems to be becoming an established rule that a certain pair of Jacks will heat most any skeet hands in greater Atlanta.

And so, to make a short story brief, it was Jack Tway, probably the most consistent skeet shooter the Gate City affords, who won first prize—a basket of fruit—in the West End Gun Club's splendid Christmas shoot Sunday.

And it was Jack Gray, the scatter-gun specialist from the airport, who was second, also winning a basket of fruit.

Tway and Gray, the explosive powder twins, had a 46 and a 44, respectively, to dominate the scratch division.

Two other fine shooters, Benson Freeman Jr., and Ashby Taylor, tied for third prize with 41 and 40, each receiving a large sack of fruit.

CLOWERS MINUS FRUIT. First compilation of scores showed an all-Tway domination of honors for the shoot, Charlie Tway, father of Jack, having been awarded first prize in the handicap division by virtue of a 42. But a redoubt revealed that E. C. Clowers had gone the elder Tway a bit better, breaking 52 and 50. Since the oversight was not noticed until some time later, Charley Tway got the fruit and belatedly, E. C. Clowers gets the credit for a dandy exhibition.

It's a question of whether fruit or credit is greater in the long run. Which, unfortunately, brings to mind that once-popular ditty: "Don't Give Me Posies When It's Shoesies That I Need."

Well, at any rate, there was more than enough fruit to go around and it is certain that Mr. Clowers got more than credit after all.

Third place, earning a large sack of fruit, went to I. B. Duke, West End field captain, who had a 47 and 40.

M. Gilbert, a fine sportsman and shooter, almost made the prize division, his 46 falling one bird out of the money.

Those turning in good scores were C. L. Davis, 45; Tom Cheves, 45; S. W. Roper, 44; H. A. Elliott, 43; H. O. Davis Sr., 43; Dr. W. C. Goodpasture, 42; S. E. Hays, 42; C. C. Kunkul, 42; Jim Nelson, 41; H. O. Davis Jr., 41; Lawrence Rich, 41; S. Drenhard, 41; J. F. Gray, 40; H. A. McDonald, 40; W. C. Goodpasture Jr., 40.

Those shooting but not finishing 50 birds included Pat Gallagher, H. D. Backwell, J. H. Starr, R. H. Smith, Mr. Patch and Mr. Drake.

PROS SCORE. Jimmy Hawks and H. C. Moore, professionals, turned in 45 and 41 and 40, respectively.

Al Frenson and Archie Comer, two excellent scratch shooters, were missed. They were out of the city for Christmas. Buddy Jones, the southern champion, likewise was missed.

Skeet initiates who professed a great liking for the sport included Walter Goodpasture, young son of Dr. W. C. Goodpasture, J. F. Gray, brother of Jack Gray; J. H. Starr, R. H. Smith and Mr. Patch.

Confirmed skeet shooters visiting the West End club for the first time included C. C. Kunkul, S. E. Hays, H. A. Elliott and Tom Cheves.

LARGE CROWD. A very fine crowd attended Sunday's Christmas shoot, but no one was denied the privilege of shooting. Squads were speeded up by officials in charge and the program went off in a highly systematic fashion.

There was quite a number of visitors, including Mr. and Mrs. O. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hales, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cox, Mrs. H. A. Elliott, Mrs. T. X. Cheves, Mrs. H. O. Davis, Mrs. H. O. Davis Sr., Mrs. H. O. Davis Jr., Mrs. J. H. Starr, Mrs. Shelton E. Hays, Mrs. J. M. Hawks, Mrs. O. V. Anderson, Mrs. Ashby Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Moore, Mrs. H. A. McDonald, S. J. Pattillo, C. E. Bettis, Bennett Hutchison, M. E. Harris, L. S. Harper, R. W. Imes, Birmingham; Adell Hale, J. M. Fenton, Thomas Nelson, Harold Ball, W. J. Hales Jr., Tommy Craden, Miss Anna L. Duke, Miss Louise Moore, Miss Cora Ayers, Miss Marie Parrish and Ruth Johnson.

PRESENTS FOR ALL. There were presents for all sportsmen taking part at the West End Gun Club's Christmas party. C. L. Davis, who has an ideal Santa Claus build, distributed them.

Tech Cagers To Leave Today

Coach Roy Mundorf and his Georgia Tech basketball squad leaves Atlanta today on the first lap of a short trip to the east. The first stop was made at Baltimore Thursday night with the University of Baltimore team as the opponent.

Rider College is to be met in Trenton, N. J., Friday night and then the series will be completed in a game with St. Thomas at Scranton, Pa., Saturday night.

The trip is a fine conditioning measure for the Tech basketballers, who open their regular season with Vanderbilt here January 6.

The probable starting lineup in each of the games will include Woodall and Stacy, forwards; Poole, center; Captain Slocum and Katz, guards.

Eight players will make the eastern trip. They are Stacy, Glenn, Woodall, Poole, Slocum, Katz, Hammond and Van Houten.

WHITHAM TOPS TENPIN STARS

E. B. Whitham, of the Wrigley Engraving Company team of the Georgia Ten Pin league, topped the individual bowling in a small field for the opening of the Capital City handicap ten pin tourney Tuesday evening with a grand total of 1,662 for his five games.

Individual scores of 209, 190, 192, 211 and 210 were included in Whitham's totals as he topped the big pins to mark after mark and eased his curves down the alleys with the accuracy of the old timer that he is. Whitham's 211 was the high individual game of the tourney and night tonight and the biggest field of the event is forecast for tonight's onslaught.

Attractive merchandise awards will give the City Ten Pin league bowlers some added incentive as they tackle the big, big, big game tonight and the biggest field of the event is forecast for tonight's onslaught.

G. M. Hambright, of the Davey Plumbing and Heating Company team, in the Georgia Ten Pin league, ran up a total of 1,055 to pull into second place for the first night's scores.

Attractive merchandise awards will give the City Ten Pin league bowlers some added incentive as they tackle the big, big, big game tonight and the biggest field of the event is forecast for tonight's onslaught.

Coach Rabenhorst is pleased at general prospects, but is concentrating on the center job, a task not expected to prove overly hard, since he'll have John Torrance, big man in southern basketball, and the lightning-fast Pete Burge, and Lloyd Lindsay for the post.

The giant Torrance might handle the assignment by himself if his 275 pounds didn't make it so hard for him to keep up with his speed the entire route.

"We ought to have a good team if we can get the center situation fixed up," Rabenhorst says. "However, there are going to be some pretty good teams in the conference, and we shouldn't expect too much. Kentucky and Mississippi State are going to be mighty strong."

Besides Torrance and Burge, several other football players have reported for court duty, including Buck and Roland Brown, and the fast Fatherree.

SEVEN CHANGES ARE SUGGESTED IN ANNUAL MEET

Recommendations Will Be Forwarded to National Rules Committee.

By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer. CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Seven changes in the college gridiron rules for 1934, designed to open up the game for the benefit of thrill-seeking customers, were suggested by the American Football Coaches' Association today, but not one coach was brave enough to back a rule change that would become more than suggestions.

The proposed changes, most of them requested by a minority of the 400 coaches in attendance at the annual convention, were:

1. Permit forward passing from any point behind the line of scrimmage. (Under the present rules, a forward pass must be at least five yards behind the line of scrimmage before firing his tosses.)

2. Move the goal posts back to the goal lines. (Present rules require the goal posts be 10 yards back of goal lines.)

3. Abolish the dead ball rule. (Present rule declares a dead ball automatically dead on point of recovery.)

4. Increase the sideline rule from 10 to 15 yards (under present rules when a ball goes out of bounds except on forward pass or kickoff, the ball is brought in 10 yards from the sidelines.)

5. Abolish the fumble rule. (Present rule declares a fumbled ball is automatically dead on point of recovery.)

6. Adopt a new "windy day" rule whereby a team in possession of the ball within its own 20-yard line on windy days can surrender the ball 25 yards nearer its opponent's goal without kicking. Coaches of both teams would have to agree to use of the rule before the game started on exceptionally windy days.

7. Modify the forward pass rule whereby only incomplete passes on the four-yard line and the end zone shall be ruled as touchbacks; incomplete passes on first, second, and third downs shall be counted only as downs. (Under present rules whenever any pass is incomplete over the opponent's end zone, a touchback results and the opposing team gains possession of the ball on its own 20-yard line.)

SUGGESTIONS. The suggestions will be forwarded to the national rules committee, which meets tomorrow at Chicago. Harry Kipke, of Michigan, chairman of the coaches' rules committee, said the proposed changes were "merely suggestions" and that the committee would make recommendations. "The majority of football coaches seem to be in favor of letting the rules stand as they are," Kipke said. "But there are some progressive suggestions contained in the list that merit deep consideration. But after all, it's up to the national rules committee entirely."

"We realize that many close games were played last fall, but the coaches and fans should understand that the demand for contests between more closely matched teams was the underlying cause. Two, the defense has developed faster than the offense."

A canvass of the coaches failed to reveal one that would predict success for all seven suggestions when the national rules committee studies and acts on them. The consensus was that the proposals to abolish the "dead ball" and fumble rules and to modify the forward pass rule on touchbacks had the best chance.

SOME DO, SOME DON'T. Gil Noble, the solemn man from Cornell, thought the suggestion to help teams keep away from too many touchbacks was a good one, but he turned thumbs down on the others. Coach "Doc" Spawrs, of Wisconsin, however, said such a suggestion was "silly." It was that way all down the line. Not one agreed on all seven suggestions.

Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner and president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said he didn't look for any radical changes in the rules for 1934. He said the suggestion to change touchbacks had a good chance of making the new rule book.

The report on the survey of football accidents and deaths last season, made available to the coaches' committee headed by Dr. Marvin A. (Mal) Stevens, former head coach at Yale, indicated that more than one-fourth of the injuries might have been avoided.

A big share of the serious mishaps and 27.8 per cent of the total could have been avoided by "adequate leadership," closer attention to coaching, playing rules and players' condition. The preventable injuries listed by Eastwood were divided as follows: Inadequate coaching and poor play, 17.7 per cent; fatigue, carelessness, etc., 4.9 per cent, and physical condition, 5.2 per cent.

Of the 37 deaths reported, only 28 were directly attributed to football injuries. Twelve were the result of sandlot games, two in amateur play, 12 in high school football and two in college. The report was compiled with the co-operation of 117 institutions in 38 states with 7,084 players.

Dunlap Mid-Winter Meacalst

NEW YORK STAR
ONE OVER PAR
IN BAD WEATHER

Conditions Responsible for Most All Scores
Being High.

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 26.—(AP)—George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, played his first competitive golf today since winning the national amateur title last fall and proved he has lost none of his club magic by capturing the medal in the thirty-first Pinehurst mid-winter championship with a 37-35-72.

Dunlap's score, one over par, was the same with which he took the medal in this tournament last year, but was registered under more difficult conditions. Rains last night left the long No. 2 Pinehurst course slow and showers fell at intervals during the champion's round.

NEAREST RIVAL.
As a result of the weather, all scores were high and Dunlap's nearest rival, Eric D. Thompson, of St. Andrews, N. B., was six strokes away with a 41-37.

Halbert J. Blue, of Aberdeen and Pittsburgh, a finalist in the tournament last year, took an 85, and Dick Wilson, of Southern Pines, who recently tied Dunlap's course record of 65, an 80. Wilson and R. P. Davidson, of Washington, who also shot an 80, tied for third place in the qualifying list.

Dunlap's long game was steady and he made only four errors, getting into the rough with drives on the fourth and seventh holes, putting his tee shot into a trap on the seventh and hitting his second over the greens on the home hole. Playing No. 1 iron out on the third hole, tenth, he layed his shot five feet from the cup and drove his putt for a birdie putt.

MISSING PUTTS.
Wilson's misses were mostly on the greens. He missed seven putts of under six feet and twice took four putts in less than 20 yards away from the pin.

Dunlap's card:
Par out 444 345 354-36
Dunlap out 444 345 354-36
Par in 444 345 354-36
Dunlap in 444 345 354-36

In the first round of match play, Dunlap won the championship with E. C. Robinson, Manchester, Vt., who had an 82, and a 1921 Olympic medalist, and other championship flight pairings with the qualifying scores of each player.

R. P. Davidson, Washington (80), R. D. Davidson, Minneapolis (84), Jack Ridel, Montreal (86), and Dick Wilson, Southern Pines (80); Eric Thompson, St. Andrews, N. B. (85), H. J. Blue, Pittsburgh (85).

National Swim Stars
Compete at Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Led by Lenore Knight, of Homestead, Pa., world's fastest free style swimmer, a steady and intense race for the national title in the 100-yard freestyle pool today in preparation for the second annual national Olympic swimming meet, Thursday through Saturday.

Miss Knight, who broke her first important record in her Florida debut last year, is now credited with 100 yards, and intends to go after the 300-meter long course mark, now held by Helene Madison. Her attempt will be made Thursday. Miss Madison's mark is 4:08, set in 1930.

Another swimmer, who broke records in the 1932 Olympic breast stroke event, is in her practice swims today. Miss Govekoff laid a pace which induces the 100-meter long course record of 1:39.45, set by Agnes Geraghty in 1929, and it was believed at this distance that the midwest star will make her first start Thursday.

Three of the country's leading backstrokers, Alice Bridges, of Whitinsville, Mass., Johanna Gorman, of Homestead, and Lisa Lindstrom, of Yonkers, N. Y., will be in the pool for an assault on the 200-yard dorsal record held by the late Sibyl Baur.

Shotton Disbelieves
Managerial Rumors

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Burt Shotton, manager of the Philadelphia National League baseball club, but little credence in newspaper reports that Jimmy Wilson, recently acquired catcher, said he had signed to manage the team in 1934. Shotton was asked about the matter while playing golf this afternoon in Winter Haven.

"You can tell everyone in Winter Haven and Philadelphia for me," Shotton was quoted by a newspaper man as saying, "that it's a rumor, pure and simple—more simple than pure. I, for one, don't believe that Wilson ever gave out such a state-of-the-art rumor. I still have two more years to go with the Phillies and I expect to be on the job managing them right through the next 24 months. This is just one more of the cock and bull stories affecting baseball in general."

Frank Parker Wins
First Round Match

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Defeating two opponents with the loss of only two games, Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, eighth ranked tennis player in the nation's senior division, marched into the third round of the national junior indoor championships today.

Parker, seeded No. 1, whipped Stephen H. Ogilvy, Northwood school, New Rochelle, 6-0, 6-1, in his first round match. In the second round, Parker, 6-0, 6-1, defeated Nathan Rittenberg, Washington, D. C., 6-0, 6-1, to move into the third round.

Rose Bowl Psychology.
Columbia's gem of the ocean?
The Atlantic—and not the Pacific?
For every mail now brings the same sort of letter—
"The Pacific is larger—and Stanford is better."

It is always the set custom in approaching any football battle to take up the matter of rival psychology and see in just what direction it might happen to lead.

And you can always gamble that psychology plays no minor role in these football affairs. It often plays the major role of the afternoon, no matter along which ocean shore it may develop. In this respect Columbia has a decided jump. There seems to be a strong feeling in most parts of the country that along about sunset at Pasadena next Monday there will be little left of Columbia's Lions but a mass of blue and white debris and a few scattered patches of lion skin.

This sentiment is sure to put Columbia's young men upon their top mettle—and it can hardly waste in Stanford breasts any thought of desperate effort.

The Lion by now should have the idea that he will be fighting for his life—much less a football game.

The Wide Open Ones.
More than a few of our rabid correspondents have left themselves wide open.

Stanford will have to win by 20 points or more to make them prophets of doom, except the rankest sort.

And while Stanford must be given the better chance to win, that 20-point margin looks entirely too high.

Columbia also has her chance to win, especially if Lou Little can get his team through the afternoon without too many injuries. Up to a matter of 14 men he has about as much man power as Stanford has—and 14 men may be quite enough to go the route.

More than 30 years ago a Michigan team left six inches of Ann Arbor snow, journeyed to 80-degree California heat, and beat Stanford, 49-0. Also, the 11 Michigan players who started the game finished without calling on a substitute.

Of course that Michigan team happened to have Heston, Snow, Sweeley, White, Gregory and a few more who could play football all day, hot or cold.

You'll find that Montgomery, Barabas, Nevel and Brominski are only a few ounces under the combined weight of Grayson, Hamilton, Maents and Alusia—not enough to matter in respect to physical displacement. But it must be admitted that Tiny Thornhill can call upon better reserves—only a notch below his regulars.

The difference isn't enough to forecast the slaughter, annihilation and complete destruction that so many seem to expect.

Columbia has plenty in the way of weight in her first-string line, and that line should be able to play most of the game.

If each team had to stick to the 11 original starters, I'd say the game was a toss-up.

This statement will draw a number of rabid outbursts from many of our correspondents, but it still stands as a firm belief.

For Fun—and to Win.
A night or two ago I attended a football dinner where the material present—in its prime—would have made the heart of any football coach turn over at least twice.

Among those on hand were Mahan, of Harvard; Oliphant, Sprague and Garbisch, of the Army; Eddie Hart and Jack James, of Princeton; Kilpatrick and Spalding, of Yale; Whitney, of Harvard, and a few more.

The discussion came up whether football should be played for fun—or played to win.

That argument was somewhat baffling to this gathering. The consensus answer was as follows: "Why not both?"

The stars of the past admitted they played football to win—but also that the game gave them more fun than any other game they had ever played.

Young Whitney, of the recent Harvard team, had this to say: "I like everything about football, including the practice, the training, the blocking, the tackling. It's all fun. And I'd much rather win than lose—just as anyone else would."

It struck me that some of the older type—stars from the east in another football span—took the game just as seriously as the far west and the south are supposed to take it now.

Eddie Mahan knew but one defeat in his Harvard career—from Cornell. "And I'll have to admit," he said, "that it wasn't any fun—that it hurt and hurt a lot. A fine team beat us, and maybe I shouldn't have minded one trimming in three years. But still it hurts."

Football still has to produce a better all-around back than Eddie Mahan.

Mention of Percy Haughton as a coach developed another argument. But it was generally agreed that Haughton took a big part of his system from the old Yale system—about the time Yale began forgetting its own history-making ingredients of football success.

Stanford Practicing
Twice Daily Now

Thornhill Sends Indians Through Strenuous
Drills To Take Off Excess Weight.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 26.—(AP)—While his coaching rival, Lou Little, was trying to add weight to his Columbia Lions at Tucson, Claude (Tiny) Thornhill spent today in an effort to scale down the poundage of his Stanford Indians.

The long lay-off after the regular football season increased the avoidpools of the already big Stanford men and Coach Thornhill will use the week of preparation for the New Year's game in the Rose Bowl in getting rid of some of the excess.

Today he sent the Redskins through two workouts in the battle arena, a morning drill being little more than a warm-up, but in the afternoon there was no fooling.

The big coach apparently plans no radical change in his system, but his lineup will be altered by necessity rather than choice. Ben Pala Mountain, almost as big as his name, from tackle to the flank position, Pala Mountain, scaling 207 pounds and standing an inch over six feet, is an athlete who "can play anywhere," so he will bolster the shrinking number of ends.

One star end was caught by an ineligible ruling, a couple of substitutes came up limping in the early workouts, and Jim (Monk) Moserip, a certain starter pending additional hurts, is a bit bruised. Bob Maenz, a halfback, also is bruised but will be ready a week hence, as will Moserip.

With the end situation almost certain to adjust itself with the help of big Pala Mountain, Coach Thornhill's only other worry is center. Wes Muller, huge center, continues to be beset by influenza and has only one outside chance to get in the game. He will be replaced by Bill Bates, no slouch of a center, but lacking the convincing power of Muller in back-up up the line. Muller weighs 216 pounds, while Bates boasts a mere 182, ranking him among the light-weights of the squad.

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Quiet, unassuming Cliff Montgomery, Columbia's football captain and quarterback, offered the opinion today that

BASKET STARS OF LAST YEAR
WILL BE BACK

Seven All-Southeastern Players Return for Another Year.

By The Associated Press.
Seven of the 10 players selected on the first and second all-star teams during last year's Southeastern conference basketball championship tournament are playing again this year.

The all-star team, Mississippi State forward; John (Frenchy) DeMoisey, Kentucky, forward-center; Taylor, Mississippi State, center; and Malone (Spanky) Wade, Louisiana State guard of the first team and Blair and Harris, of Louisiana State, forwards, and Bill Davis, of Kentucky, and Billow, of Mississippi State, guards of the second team. Ellow probably will not play because of injury.

Only Forrest Sale, the tall center of Kentucky and Ellis Johnson, the Kentucky guard, have finished their years of play.

Wade, who was the southeastern's leading scorer a year ago, and Waits, who had the best scoring average, are juniors. Wade scored 193 points in 20 games for an average of nine a game, but Wade's average was 18.3 per cent.

Sale, regarded by many as the greatest center the tournament has ever seen, established a new scoring record for the tournament itself, making 71 points in four games.

Louisiana State was the highest scoring team last year with 799 points, but Kentucky, which won the tournament, had a better average, 43 points a contest. Waits scored more points than any other player in a single game—30.

Kentucky won last year's tournament by defeating Mississippi State 46 to 27. Kentucky and Louisiana State were the favorites and Mississippi State was the tournament's biggest disappointment.

Sparky Wade, of Louisiana, was the outstanding personality of the meet, scoring goals from all angles of the court, playing his guard position cleverly and taunting opponents only to laugh at their discomfort as the galleries roared.

Signature of John Quincy Adams
Uncovered by Georgian's Request

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A request by H. Key Smith, of Washington, grandson of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star-Spangled Banner," for information concerning a suit originating in federal court here which his grandfather argued before the supreme court has led to discovery of an original signature of John Quincy Adams.

Mr. Smith recently wrote for facts about the suit which was brought in 1820 by the king of Spain to recover 280 negro slaves which apparently were seized on the high seas by Americans.

The signature of Adams, as secretary of state, was found on a paper certifying that one Don Carlos Mulvey was consul of the king of Spain in Savannah, Scott A. Edwards, with age, and has not yet learned the outcome of the suit.

The suit names the slaves as defendants and sought the recovery for either their Spanish owners or the king himself. The petition stated a Spanish ship known as the Antelope or the General Ramirez was engaged in bringing slaves from Africa to Cuba, when the Columbia, a vessel from Baltimore, charged the Antelope on the high seas off the coast of Africa and captured the 280 "negroes or persons of color."

Approaching South America with its "loot" the ship foundered off the coast of Brazil. The United States revenue cutter Dallas captured the cargo of slaves and evidently brought them into Savannah. Edwards has just begun the difficult task of securing the legal papers, yellowed with age, and has not yet learned the outcome of the suit.

AUGUSTA LIQUOR CASE
APPEAL UP TO COUNCIL

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 26.—(AP)—City Attorney J. Paul Stephens announced today that Judge A. L. Franklin's decision granting an injunction against licensing of liquor by city ordinance would not be appealed unless council orders differently.

Judge Franklin in Richmond superior court last Saturday permanently restrained the effectiveness of the licensing ordinance for the sale of liquor here in bond-free Georgia passed a short time ago by council.

Several councilmen have expressed themselves as in favor of appealing the decision, while others favor the licensing of "clubs" or some other device to tax liquor dealers.

The Augusta Herald said speaking of the liquor case, the principal business thoroughfare of the city, were closed Sunday and Monday on police orders. No raids were conducted, but the streets were quiet, and business was resumed as usual in most of the speakeasies today.

KNIGHT PRESENTS
BRIEF IN DEFENSE OF PRISON GOODS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Attorney-General Thomas E. Knight Jr., of Alabama, filed in the supreme court today a brief of the argument he will present on January 8 in support of the attempt of his state to make shipments of Alabama prison-made goods from restrictions imposed by the federal government and 19 states.

Alabama insisted in the brief it had the right to maintain such proceedings, declaring the court had always followed liberal principles in enabling states to bring their disputes before it for settlement. It insisted congress was without power to enact the Hawes-Cooper act relating to the interstate shipments of prison-made goods, taking the position that in matters of interstate commerce there are no state lines, and that federal control is based on the constitutional power to regulate but does not extend to the prohibition of transportation unless based on the exceptional nature of the article.

The 19 states which have legislative restrictions on the sale of prison-made goods were without authority, the brief asserted, to impose such burdens on interstate commerce.

Standpat Saturday Evening Post Flays Present Republican Party

By C. C. NICOLET.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Something approaching a journalistic earthquake struck tonight when the Standpat Saturday Evening Post, a conservative publication, came down to read their Saturday Evening Post and discovered an editorial denouncing the republican party and talking about need for a political realignment and the formation of a new party.

The Post long has been considered the last word in standpat republicanism and commentators settled down to read their Saturday Evening Post and discovered an editorial denouncing the republican party and talking about need for a political realignment and the formation of a new party.

"We can see no future for the republican party as it is at present constituted and as it has operated. The only element that is content to go along with the past policies of the party is the extreme conservatives. Its old leaders have not sensed the temper of the times and of the country if they think that they can come back on the strength of the mistakes of the administration and the blunders of the brain trust."

The editorial criticized the Roosevelt administration as tending toward the left, expressing disappointment that the president had not brought his party to stand for "clean-cut, sensible liberalism."

"The time is here or coming soon," the editorial said, "when unless the republican party cleans house, and uses a vacuum cleaner for the job instead of a tick and a promise, there must be a political realignment and the formation of a new party that does not want a government by the extreme right or the extreme left; that does not want a government of and for either the creditor or the debtor class, but that will deal impartially with both; that will play no favorites among organized classes as against unorganized; that will recognize and correct the grave injustices of our system of justice."

George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, told the United Press by telephone from his Philadelphia home that he had no comment to make on the editorial, preferring to let it stand alone as an exposition of the publication's views. It was an expression only for the Post, he said, and not for allied publications.

The unexpected attack upon republican leadership from what has been considered almost a party organ seemed particularly significant at a time when considerable restlessness has been observed here among republicans dissatisfied with the present national committee setup.

The chairmanship of Everett Sanders is threatened with possible revolt by anti-Hoover groups. Progressive republican defections to the Roosevelt program has combined with the stirrings among anti-Hoover elements to create unrest.

Bullitt is returning to Washington after making plans for an embassy in Moscow. He is to sail from Havre December 30 on the liner Washington.

HUEY LONG COMPLETES NEW ORLEANS TICKET

Wamsley Expected To Announce "Regular" Slate This Week.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Leaders in the new political coalition working on the third mayoralty ticket which will have the support of Senator Huey P. Long in the approaching primary indicated today that the slate for principal offices had been tentatively completed with the addition of Z. D. Nichols, president of the local carpenter's union, to the list of councilmanic candidates.

As tentatively shaped this morning after the Christmas political truce in which all factions participated, the ticket to be put out by the Long organization, the Citizens' Democratic Club and the Jefferson Democratic Club, would include:

For mayor, John Klorer, recently resigned chief engineer for the Orleans levee board, for commission council, Nichols, Dr. John Roeling, incumbent coroner and recent candidate for mayor, Alfred Danziger, attorney, realtor, and close personal friend of Senator Long, and John J. Vetter, brought over from the former Roeling ticket, for district attorney, Augustus Williams, a brother of Francis Williams, anti-Long candidate for mayor.

Mayor T. Semmes Wamsley, old regular chief, recently ally of the Long group, and candidate for reelection, is expected to announce the old regular ticket before the end of the week.

After changing his plans several times, Registrar of Voters C. S. Barnes, member of the Long group, closed the voters' registration books at noon today, asserting he acted on the suggestion of the attorney-general as a result of confusion arising over the deadline for legal registrations for the primary.

After changing his plans several times, Registrar of Voters C. S. Barnes, member of the Long group, closed the voters' registration books at noon today, asserting he acted on the suggestion of the attorney-general as a result of confusion arising over the deadline for legal registrations for the primary.

Society Braves Blizzard To Attend New York, Chicago Opera Openings

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(UP)—The Metropolitan Opera house opened its fifty-first season tonight with a glitter of handsomely gowned women and men in evening dress, carrying on its operatic tradition in spite of financial difficulties.

The curtailed season of only 14 weeks started in the crowded house of approximately 4,000 people, who fought their way to the opera house under difficult traffic conditions caused by the day's blizzard.

Giulio Gatti-Casazza, who began his career as an operatic manager 40 years ago today in Italy, chose an opera in the English language by an American composer for his opening—Dennis Taylor's "Peter Ibbotson."

It was the first time in the history of the Metropolitan that an American opera has opened the season. The occasion was further marked by a strong showing of American talent. The cast, as in previous presentations of the opera, was headed by Lawrence Tibbett, American baritone, and Edward Johnson, Canadian-born tenor, in the principal male roles, while Luceria Bori, who has done so much to preserve the opera in New York, Gladys Swarthout and Ina Bourskaya sang their familiar parts.

WEDELL RACES TO SAVE BABY'S LIFE

He had noted a change in the contour and size of her head. Specialists were called in and Dr. James Park Jr., recognized her condition and ordered her rushed to Baltimore at noon Tuesday. The child's condition, it was said, is hourly becoming worse due to pressure within the cranial vault on the brain.

Even after the emergency operation is performed, if the plane reaches Baltimore in time, the infant's condition would necessarily be grave for several days, it was said.

Another child of Mr. and Mrs. Trammell died several months ago of an illness similar to that of the child being rushed to Baltimore. Trammell is former president of the Houston Natural Gas Company.

Wedell was spending the Christmas holidays at West Columbia, Texas, when he was asked to make the flight to Baltimore. He was accompanied by his wife and two children.

Abroad the cabin plane with the child were her parents and grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Foudren and nurses.

The flight was expedited at Houston by Prince Louis Ferdinand, son of Frederick Wilhelm, former crown prince of Germany, who had engaged passage on a fast passenger plane leaving for Baltimore.

He readily consented to fly to New Orleans in a slower cabin ship, it was said, and Wedell took off in the first machine. The prince was delayed two hours in arriving at New Orleans by the exchange, airport at the Long group's election.

FREEZING BALTIMORE FIELD MADE READY FOR ARRIVAL
BALTIMORE, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Logan field, bogged down by snow and slush which was freezing, was put in readiness tonight for the landing of the airplane of James R. Wedell, speeding to Baltimore with a sick baby for treatment at the Johns Hopkins hospital.

The facilities of the city of Baltimore were offered by Mayor Howard W. Jackson to aid the flyer and the family of the stricken infant, five-month-old Sue Trammell, of Houston, Texas, even indicating he would send his private car to the airport with a police escort for the flying party.

No word had been received at Johns Hopkins tonight of the anticipated admittance of the Trammell baby but hospital authorities said it was customary for such patients to be admitted and examined by a resident physician and except in exceptional cases the specialist sees them on his regular visit the following day.

There was no indication at the hospital as to the ailment of the child other than its parents were advised in Houston to consult Dr. Walter E. Dandy, noted brain specialist. The hospital officials explained that in a case of a brain tumor, which is most common under such circumstances, the examination by the specialist and taking of X-ray photographs could be delayed a day.

The visibility over Logan field was poor tonight and all local planes had been held in port during the entire day because of a heavy snowfall which had turned to slush. A crust was forming late tonight.

Mayor Jackson said attendants at the municipal airport had been instructed to have the landing lights pride swung open its portals tonight to welcome back a glittering stream of grand opera lovers.

The name of Jettiza, the glamour of a first night, and the event of "home-coming" opera backed by Chicagoans filled every seat in the gilded auditorium, notwithstanding the 10 below-zero blasts that swept down the long colonnade on Wacker drive, whipping evening wraps of society names and debutantes as they scurried into the entries.

"La Tosca" was the opera selected for the opening, with Maria Jeriza in the title role.

It is but one of the operatic grand names adorning the five-a-week program—names that include Marion Talley, Rosa Raisi, of Chicago's old Civic Opera Company; Mario Chamlee, Tito Schipa, John Charles Thomas, Chase Baromeo, Elizabeth Rethberg, Grace Moore and others, enlisted for brief or extended periods of performance.

ITALY OPENS OPERA ON SANTO STEFANO'S DAY

Dr. Dandy, who was recommended by Houston physicians to perform the emergency operation on the baby, said he had heard nothing about the infant being brought here until informed by the press. He made no comment.

Reorganization Urged For U. S. Radio Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A sweeping reorganization of the federal radio commission was proposed today by Chairman Dill, of the senate commerce committee, unless it shows more "initiative" in regulating advertising and keeps alert to the new developments in the broadcasting field.

The supreme court had held the commission had full power to determine the character of advertising that should be broadcast, and "it is the duty of the commission to determine what should be a program in the public interest."

"It should restrict the abuses of the right to advertise," he added.

The announcement stated the change was being made because of a mutual desire on the part of the officers of Curtis-Martin Newspapers, Inc., and of the Curtis Publishing Company to avoid any confusion resulting from similarity of names, and to correct the erroneous impression which seems to exist in the public mind regarding any affiliation of the two corporations.

Word of his drowning was brought today by a Seminole runner from the Everglades to W. Stanley Hanson, white spokesman for the Indians. The body of the 61-year-old leader was found under his automobile in the canal.

A year ago Tiger Tail became the first merchant among the Seminoles. He built a wooden store in the Everglades and did business with white men. He bought an automobile and cultivated a farm, from which he was said to have made money. He took good care of his camp, his 82-year-old mother and his young son.

Miss Eloise Darby Weds Mr. Shiplett In Vidalia, Ga.

VIDALIA, Ga., Dec. 26.—The marriage of Miss Eloise Darby, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. J. Frank Darby, to George Shiplett on Friday morning, December 22, with the Rev. H. H. Heisler, pastor of the First Methodist church, reading the marriage service, Miss Crystelle Darby, sister of the bride, rendered a program of nuptial music using "Traumerei," by Schumann, and the wedding march by Mendelssohn. During the ceremony "To a Wild Rose," by McLowell, and the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" were played.

Poinsettias, silhouetted against a backdrop of ferns, formed the decorations, and the vows were taken before an altar arranged with seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers, flanking the sides. A prayer bench of white satin was placed in the foreground and green lace ferns were at each side. Miss Frances Darby, sister of the bride, lighted the candles that cast a soft glow over the wedding party. She wore a frock of rust crepe with a small brown felt hat and brown accessories.

The bride entered from the stairs with her father, Mayor Darby, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom, who was accompanied by James Darby, only brother of the bride. Her blond beauty was accentuated by her becoming gown of blackberry crepe, made along striking lines, featuring the high neckline and the small flare at the hemline. Flame of harmonizing tone was the trim of this model, adding a chic effect. She wore a close-fitting turban of gold and black satin, with a small face veil of black net and gold sequins. Black satin gloves, bag and shoes were worn with this becoming ensemble. Her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of white carnations and valley lilies. As a traveling suit the bride chose a most becoming wool crepe dress of red with black shoes, bag and hat, and a coat of Hudson seal.

I owned the store!"

SHE spoke of the incident over the bridge table... told it to her friends . . . there was a flurry of laughter . . . and the game went on.

But the incident was repeated to us. And we like it.

She had come to Rich's, bringing an out-of-town friend . . . and as they made their way from the first floor to the fourth, she was stopped by twenty-four different people . . . all employees of Rich's . . . who stopped her for a brief space and chatted with friendly interest.

The out-of-town friend was impressed. "Heavens!" she exclaimed, "I never saw anyone get so much attention! You must own the store."

Perhaps . . . since she was from out-of-town, she doesn't know Rich's. Doesn't know that the thousands of people who pass in and out of our store daily . . . are our friends. Doesn't know that between Rich's and Rich's customers there is a bond of REAL friendship. And perhaps she doesn't know that when she said, "you must own the store" she spoke more truly than she dreamed.

For you . . . and you . . . and you . . . do own the store . . . it is your store . . . working for you, planning for you. From the minute you enter the door it is yours to use . . . yours to command. And the building of 66 years has gone forward steadily toward the day when you can walk in and feel that you "own the store."

INSTALLMENT III.

Verity was the only one who offered to speak. The rest of them listened but were dumb.

"Mighty hellish goin' on, Mr. Redd," That's how Verity began. "Yes, yes," By his repetition of the word, with a rising inflection, any one acquainted with the distinctive native speech of the farther reaches of Long Island would recognize him for a genuine son of the soil.

"I believe it was you who discovered the bodies," I said.

"I done so, and it's goin' to take me some little time, I figger, to get over it—yes, yes. I was goin' down to the water's edge, sort of, as you might say, casual like, and I seen how the south door of the bathhouse swung sort of ajar, and I thinks to myself, now that's curious, and then I further thinks to myself that I've missed some' old Wong puttin' 'round the grouns this mornin', which wasn't like him, him bein' quite a hand for gettin' up early and potterin' 'round more or less aimless, so I says to myself I'll just give a peek aloft and see if the boss slept ture all night like he sometimes does—did, I mean—cause of he'd done so. Wong might be there chorin' fur him 'r sittin' similar. So up I goes and there they both be—the boss in his chair, dead's a nit, where he'd been massacred, and Wong sprawled across that there settle about 10-15 feet to the northeast of the boss."

"You didn't touch them—the bodies?"

"Me? Not likely! I jest departed out of there fast ever these legs'd take me, and then I run by the house and sung out the word to the inside crew and then I run on out to the lane lookin' for help and sure enough I run afoul of Charley Chubby. And he herded the whole lot of us back into here and here we still be, awaitin' what'll come to pass next—yes, yes."

"Where's Miss Dane?" I asked.

"Up in her room, I figger. She went up soon's she come hither off the back-yard. She'd gone out there same as these others."

"The last glimpse I had as I passed on into the dining room showed me the withdrawn Sabine still flat and rigid against the wall and still steadfastly regarding me with his lowering hateful eyes, but other than that, as aloofly posed and as motionless as though he were carved out of a block of solid redwood. His looks followed me like a malediction."

SALLY'S SALLIES

The last thing I said to Florence as I left her was:

"Above all else remember what I've been trying all this while to impress on you, and that is to tell only facts when you're called on to answer questions. And when once you've stated a fact, stick to it no matter how they hammer. And if later you have to swear to it in court, why just swear to it. And here's one thing more. There's nothin' criminal and there's nothin' punishable about withholdin'

she hear me, until I was almost upon her. As I came up the repeated wide staircase from the reception hall below she was pressed into the recess of the big south window on the broad landing where the steps turn. Even with her back turned to me, there was about her a sense of expectancy, as though she watched for some dreadful yet inevitable denouement down beneath her or on beyonder. I was sure my own overwrought imagination had not tricked me. I knew fearfulness revealed itself in her pose and when from almost behind her I called her name softly, she whirled about and I saw the beginnings of panic betrayed by her widened blue eyes and by her drawn white cheeks and, most of all, by her shaking hands that were both clenched into small tight fists against her breasts. Over her sleeping pajamas she wore a heart-silk dressing gown. Her feet were bare except for a pair of bedroom slippers. Her brown hair was disheveled about her face, yet it seemed to me that never had she been lovelier than at that moment with a flutter of rising fear covering her like a garment. To me she always has been the loveliest creature that lives. And always you be-

"O, Uncle Gil!" she cried out, catching her breath and striving to keep her voice low. "O, Uncle Gil!" For the moment she kept crying out that and nothing else.

I took her in my arms and through both our bodies I could feel how her heart beat with downright thumps. In my grip she relaxed and dropped. I squeezed her to me hard.

"Uncle Gil," she said then, "what does it all mean?"

"It means that at last the curse upon this house has been fulfilled," I said, choosing my words deliberately. "It means that the devil finally has come into his own."

"O, don't say that," she bade me in a faint half whisper. "You might hear you! O, Uncle Gil, I'm so frightened, so hideously, horribly frightened!"

"That's the worst thing you can do—be frightened," I warned her. "You must pull yourself together—understand? You must get yourself under control. You know without any coaching from me what you should tell when the time comes for that and what you'd prefer not to tell. But truth, what you do tell must be the truth. There you're safe. Now then, you go to your room—"

I was saying this. I was leading her up the stairs, my arm about her quivering shoulders, leading her along the hall to her room in the central body of the house.

"You go on in and dress yourself," I said, "and when you are dressed I'll come back. It's absolutely imperative that you should have your wits about you when the police and the other authorities, who are coming, get here and begin asking questions. But they won't be here for perhaps an hour yet. Organize yourself, child. That's your job."

I kissed Florence and gave her another good big hug and gently shoved her inside the room, and then I lit a cigar and patrolled the hall.

In 10 minutes or less, Florence admitted me. Outwardly she was much calmer although she held herself so only by a supreme effort of her will, as I could detect for myself. She was very pale, or perhaps the plain black frock she was wearing made her seem paler than before. On my advice she took some aromatic spirit of ammonia and it seemed to do her good.

By my wrist watch it ten-forty when from one of Florence's boudoir windows I saw two cars flash into view below the hedge paralleling the western ell of the house and and go whirling down the lower driveway toward Settle pond. So I guessed these were official cars, with no regard for speed, on emergency business. It turned out to be right. Just the same, just 20 minutes more dragged by before Hilda, the chamber maid, knocked at Florence's door to say that three gentlemen from Riverhead wanted to see me downstairs.

"Now then, Mr. Redd, if you'll just wait a long while," I said to Motley. "I'd like for you to meet Captain Bray. He's a sort of special investigator. I left him down at the bathhouse. We size him up as a fairly satisfactory man on this kind of stunt, very thorough and painstaking although a bit opinionated. We used him on a couple of cases last year, and he wasn't bad, by any manner of means. He's had experience, for one thing."

Half way down to the pond we rounded a clump of ornamental cedars and bumped into this man. The muscular Mr. Motley's eyes must have bulged when he saw how warmly his special investigator greeted me, and how warmly in return I welcomed him.

Man Who Quit 'Kill Crazy' Gang Warns Convicts Will Fight To Death

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 26.—(UP)—Police had a definite warning today from one who, until recently, sat in the innermost circles of the elusive John Dillinger gang of killers, that any attempt to arrest the desperadoes would be met by a battle to the death.

The informant was Edward Shouse, captured last week during a gun battle at Paris, Ill., in which an Indiana state policeman was slain, and he told his story of the gang to Sergeant Dan Healy, of the Chicago police.

"They are all kill crazy and that's why I left them," said Shouse, who was one of the 10 convicts who broke out of the Indiana prison last September.

Back in his cell, Shouse spent Christmas afternoon telling Sergeant Healy some of the gang's precautions to elude capture.

"They have a night drill in which every man takes the position assigned to him in event of a surprise raid by police."

They sleep in bullet-proof vests. They will shoot it out to the last bullet and they have plenty of guns. They hope to amass $100,000 by robbery forays out of Chicago after which they plan to go to South America.

They consider Chicago the safest place to live in the meantime.

When he left them last November

18 to go to California Shouse said Dillinger, Harry Pierpont, Charles Mackley, John Hamilton, Russell Clark and John Burns were living together in Chicago.

BIRMINGHAM SUIT SEEKS TO HALT POWER LOAN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 26.—(UP)—Opponents of municipal power distribution at Bessemer, Ala., late today reopened court action in an effort to block the city's application for a loan sought from the public works administration to finance a municipal power plant.

A petition seeking an injunction to restrain the loan on the grounds that the referendum authorizing it was held illegally was filed in circuit court by T. T. Huey.

Kansas City Residents Will Get Milk Later

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Kansas City milkmen may sleep later now.

The health department today issued an order prohibiting the delivery of milk in residential districts before 5 a. m.

When delivered early, health officials said, milk stands too long in an unprotected condition on porches.

Jap Diet Convened By Emperor Hirohito

TOKYO, Dec. 26.—(AP)—With its major decisions well indicated in advance—among them the expected approval of the largest peace-time defense program in Japan's history—the sixty-fifth session of the imperial diet was opened by Emperor Hirohito amid colorful ceremonies today.

The cabinet, dominated by General Sadao Araki and Admiral Mineo Araki, ministers of war and navy, respectively, virtually has completed a program of rearmament, among other things, for army and navy appropriations amounting to $38,000,000 yen (about $281,400,000), the yen being quoted at 30 cents in the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1934. This sum is 44 per cent of the total budget of 2,112,000,000 yen.

Under the cabinet's program, to which parliament is expected to do little more than rubber-stamp approval, the army will receive 450,000,000 yen—the largest peace-time appropriation for land forces, and the navy 488,000,000. The navy's allotment is only 11,000,000 yen short of the navy's all-time high of 400,000,000 yen in 1921-1922.

He encountered the men within a few days and invited them to a restaurant for coffee. George suddenly took fright and fled; so did the pastor, following him.

He caught up with George and held him until a policeman arrived. The magistrate indicated he was ready to sentence the pair to three months in jail.

Business in general for the road is on the increase, Mr. Powell stated. A marked increase in passengers riding Seaboard trans has occurred since the road reduced passenger fares on December 1, he said.
